POPULATION OF VIRGINIA (95 Counties and 41 Cities)	5,635,500
With public library service(98.7%)	5,563,800 (i)
Without public library service (1.3%)	71,700

(a) Estimated population July 1, 1984 (Provisional), Tayloe Murphy Institute.
(b) Includes grants from the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy and other such grants.
(c) Includes refunds from sale of equipment.
(d) Includes special purpose grant expenditures, establishment grants, and MURLS.
(e) Includes administration, collection development, archives and miscellaneous expenditures.
(f) Includes film program, books, consultative services, CAVALIR, selected salaries, and conversion projects.
(g) Includes interlibrary loan services, VIC, networking, and continuing education.
(h) The city of Franklin is counted also with city libraries.
(i) Includes populations of towns.

NOTE: Since the compilation of these figures, the counties of Appomattox, Cumberland, and Buckingham have been classified as having limited library service. Prince Edward County has established a county public library with limited service. With these additions the total population served is now 5,611,900 (99.6%), the number of county libraries is 42, and the total number of libraries is 97. The population without service is 23,600 (0.4%.)

COVER: Libraries with limited service are those which do not meet the requirements for receiving state aid. The map shows changes since July 1985 (see note above.)

(b) Estimated population July 1, 1982 (Provisional), Tayloe Murphy Institute.
(c) Estimated population July 1, 1984 (Provisional), Tayloe Murphy Institute.
(d) Based on population served.
(e) Since the compilation of these figures, the counties of Appomattox, Cumberland, and Buckingham have been added as libraries with limited service. Prince Edward County has established a county public library with limited service. This increases the number of population served to 5,611,900, the number of counties served to 92 and the number of libraries to 97; it reduces the number of counties unserved to 3.
